According to the National Alliance on Mental Health, 1 in 5 young people in the U.S. has a diagnosable mental health disorder. Limited resources and patient volume can impede the treatment and assistance provided to this population of patients. This forum will address concerns regarding the ongoing mental health crisis affecting children and adolescents in Delaware. Attendees will contribute to the conversation regarding intervention and the necessary support needed to appropriately treat patients.

Target Audience: Pediatricians, family physicians, psychiatrists, psychologists, medical residents, physician assistants, nurses, nurse practitioners, and other mental and non-mental health care professionals.
